

Dr. Dolly Florence Murmu, Associate Professor

Email id- dolly.florence@lic.du.ac.in

Dolly Florence Murmu, Ph.D is an Associate Professor and researcher with 14+ years of teaching experience in both undergraduate and postgraduate courses. She has supervised 22 M.Sc dissertation and Co-authored Book on Sociology at the Department of Human development and Childhood studies at lady Irwin College, University of Delhi. She has done her Post-Graduation and Doctoral studies from the Department of Anthropology, University of Delhi in Social Anthropology. She teaches courses in Sociology, Anthropology of Health, Socio economic environment, Sociology of working with families and communities, Socio Cultural Dimension of Family, Childhood in India, Childhood and Adolescent across Ecological Setting (M. Sc. HDCS). Prior to joining at lady Irwin college in 2006, she was an Assistant Professor at Amity University at the dept of AIBHAS and taught Anthropology. Her current research area includes tribal medicinal knowledge, tribal culture and identity gender studies.